

ALLIES' THREAT TO RENEW WAR

Amistice to Be Called Off Unless Turks Agree to Terms.

TO GO HOME AT ONCE

Hope Still Held Out That Peace Negotiations Will Go On.

CABINETS YET TO ACT

King Ferdinand of Bulgaria Goes to Meet Army Leaders.

Special Cable Despatches to The Sun. LONDON, Jan. 15.—The bombshell thrown out by the allies to-day by announcing that they were going back to their respective countries and that the war would be resumed, although it raised the war clouds to lower ominous, is not equivalent to a rupture of the negotiations.

Not only is the threat of a resumption of the war conditional on Turkey's non-compliance with the advice of the powers, but according to well informed news the note of the delegates of the allies to Sir Edward Grey, the British Foreign Secretary, is merely a recommendation to their respective Governments and it will have to be considered by three Cabinets before it can be effective.

This rather suggests the tail wagging the dog. Another version is that the delegates are acting in obedience to orders from their Governments and have resolved on a plan of action which they will keep secret until the last moment, as they are pledged to await the representations of the Ambassadors at Constantinople to the Porte.

This makes it look as if the Ambassadors had advanced knowledge of the plans of the allies and perhaps took a hand in suspending the negotiations. The statement given out yesterday afternoon, though doubtless sanctioned by the Balkan delegates, was not a direct announcement and nothing of direct consequence has added to the present knowledge of the early statement.

Dr. Danoff, the leading Bulgarian delegate, is quoted by the Daily Mail as saying: "We are here to make peace, not war. We cannot break off the negotiations. The Powers have presented their terms and Turkey has had an opportunity of answering it. The Bulgarians do not accept it. We prefer action to words until the time comes we act with unanimity and decision. We have suffered the world once and shall give it even greater suffering."

The communitarian of the Daily Telegraph describes the following to an unnamed Balkan delegate: "We are tired of waiting vainly for something to turn up. If Europe would pressure enough on the Turks peace would be signed in a few days. But the Powers are marked by hostility and their action is marred by selfishness. We are the sufferers thereby. We propose to do it to strengthen the hands of the Powers and add weight to their intervention."

Do you foresee a renewal of the war, he was asked. "Of course, if the Turks force us to," was the reply. "The writer further represents the Powers as saying that an opportunity to consider the matter might arise from a Greek Legation dinner to the Powers and their intention might be modified."

The Daily Telegraph commentator is so eloquent over the new move of the allies, "making separate action," he says, "deliberately weakened their position and postponed delay. They have lost their prestige by forestalling the Powers, emboldening the Turks, and placing the Triple Alliance and peace in the position of well-armed amateurs, who to use the Greek expression have put their hands on the plow."

The Ambassador advised, exhorted and threatened them to leave well enough alone. A session followed argument and a decision at the sister consequences. They were about to take a step which they seemed to be convinced or persuaded and then suddenly ran into a tangent and dealt their cause a severe blow."

The writer ascribes the delay in presenting the note of the Powers at Constantinople to the "deplorable procedure of the allies."

It was declared in Berlin that Germany and Austria are entirely opposed to any forcible measures. Little news comes from Constantinople. Nothing is known at the moment of calling as to what decision has been reached in regard to acceding to the demand of the allies for the cessation of Adrianople and the Aegean islands.

Turkish delegates here say they are doing nothing new. They are abstaining from diplomatic entertainments and are attending the dinner of the Greeks and the Bulgarians. They also declined to attend

BACK FROM CELL TO HEAD BANK.

President, Sent to Penitentiary, Gets His Old Job Back.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 14.—The directors of the German National Bank today elected W. W. Ramsey president. On March 12, 1910, Ramsey went to the Western Penitentiary, where he served fourteen months for his connection with graft in Pittsburgh. Ramsey was president of the German National Bank. This bank was one of several big financial institutions that sought city deposits when Governor John Cline from his cell exposed all associated with him in the corruption of the Council. Ramsey was among those caught. He was found guilty on February 15, 1909, of solicitation with intent to bribe.

The board gave a pardon to him on May 10, 1911. Shortly thereafter he became a vice-president of the Third National Bank.

DR. RAUCH MISSING FOUR DAYS.

Police Search for Physician Who Always Carried Large Sums.

The police of the West 100th street station have been unable to discover any clue to the movements of Dr. David L. Rauch of 175 West Twenty-eighth street since he left his home about 7 o'clock the evening of January 10. He always carried a large sum of money and a gold watch worth several hundred dollars. The doctor had been considerably overworked lately and his brother, Moses H. Rauch, with whom he lives, thinks that his mind may have given way.

He is 43 years old, about 5 feet 2 inches tall, with brown hair, eyes and mustache. He wears a small imperial and at the time of his disappearance wore a dark blue suit, with a black overcoat and derby hat. He is of medium build and light complexion.

Orders Court Room Doors Locked and Choice Made From Fifty Present.

Justice Goff established a new record for expedition in the extraordinary term of the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court yesterday when he ordered the doors of his court room locked and instructed a protesting defence to choose a jury from the fifty citizens present. As a result a jury was found in five minutes.

A jury specially selected had just filed in at the opening of the afternoon session with a verdict of guilty against a briber, Edgar R. Jackson, former head of the Jackson Bros. Realty Company, was ready to be tried for grand larceny. James W. Osborne, attorney for Jackson, had hurried into court.

"I just arrived," exclaimed Mr. Osborne. "I am very tired and didn't know that the case was on trial. I was up late last night and am in no condition for selecting a jury. I should like to put my application in proceeding in the form of an affidavit."

"Now, Mr. Osborne," said Justice Goff, "I don't think you want to make any affidavit until you have recovered from your labors of yesterday and last night."

"But, your Honor, I understand that the jury panel has been excused until tomorrow," insisted Mr. Osborne.

"We have twenty-four jurors from the General Sessions here," went on the Justice, "and there are twelve good men in the jury box, while I see several citizens in the court room officers turning to the court attendant, 'Thank you, now, Mr. Osborne, I think you have nearly fifty citizens from which to choose a jury.'"

"It is impossible," interposed the attorney. "To tell the truth, I only came into the case last night and have had no time to read the indictment or to confer with my client. If your Honor would be satisfied I would gladly consent to the impaneling of a single juror if I were assured that we would not adjourn until tomorrow."

"Look around the court and pick out your man," suggested Justice Goff. Mr. Osborne picked out Charles W. Harkness, foreman of the jury that had just come in.

"It looks like a good man to me," said Mr. Osborne, indicating Mr. Harkness.

"Well, if he looks good to you, what's the matter with the others?" questioned Justice Goff.

"Why, sure," Mr. Osborne replied, "I'll take them all."

A few questions from Assistant District Attorney Nott and some answers from the jurors that they saw no reason that they should not try Jackson, accused of getting $5,000 on promises to deliver stock in a real estate transaction, and the jury was sworn in.

"There's more time wasted in these courts in selecting juries than in any other way," concluded Justice Goff as he adjourned court until this morning.

NURSE WEDS PATIENT'S SON.

Volunteered Services on Train and Becomes Rich Man's Bride.

PITTSBURGH, Mass., Jan. 14.—Miss Mary Kennedy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kennedy of Lee, Mass., started last month for California to practice her profession as a trained nurse. A woman passenger was taken ill and Miss Kennedy volunteered her services.

The sick woman was the mother of Francis Prairie, a wealthy ranchman of Merced City, Cal. Miss Kennedy gave attendance to Mrs. Prairie for several nights and Mr. Prairie also watched by his mother. When California was reached Mrs. Prairie was recovering and Mr. Prairie had proposed marriage to Miss Kennedy. They were married on January 5 in Merced City and are returning eastward on their wedding journey.

JURY TO INDICT FOX; AFTER 2 HIGHER UP

Evidence Now Sought Against Men Prominent in the Department.

POLICE CAN'T GET TO SIPP

Outwitted by District Attorney's Men Who Take Ex-Hotel Keeper to Testify.

Justice Goff's Grand Jury voted yesterday to indict Patrolman Eugene Fox, who was accused by George A. Sipp, the Harlem hotel proprietor, who testified before the Curran committee that Fox had collected graft. The jury is expected to take final action to-day.

The names of two police officials whose rank is much higher than that of Fox were brought into the testimony given before the jury by Sipp and his son, J. Howard. Further witnesses will be questioned by the Grand Jury next Monday. Sipp has given the names of persons who may tell something of value in the case, and the jury has called witnesses who may throw light on the recent charges against Sipp.

The interest of the jury centres in the question of whether or not there is ground for a conspiracy charge against the officials named by Sipp in connection with the accusations against him. The prosecution began when Sipp reached the Criminal Courts Building at 12:30 o'clock. With his son the witness had passed a night or two in New Jersey on their way back from Philadelphia. Assistant District Attorney Goff and several other men were looking out for them.

A line of detectives was waiting when the automobile drove up, but a flying wedge of the prosecutor's men carried the witnesses past this obstruction and through a shower of white paper, which might have been subpoenas. Inside the building there was very nearly a free fight. A few hats went off and the air was filled with threats.

The District Attorney's men pushed and pulled their witnesses toward the elevator and showed them inside, just where they arrived but the elevator was on its way upward. All the police reserves could do to clear out the policemen who had crowded the ground floor of the building. One subpoena was thrust at Sipp as the elevator door closed, was picked up and carried off as a souvenir.

There was another row when the elevator got upstairs. A subpoena served on Sipp's son to go to court, a subpoena part way into his coat, but the paper, so it was said, fluttered to the floor. When the affray was over Detective John J. Tait and Conway reported to Commissioner Donaghy that the subpoena had been served. The District Attorney's men reported that so far as they knew there had been no service.

The police trial of Fox has been adjourned to Friday of this week. If the Police Commissioner takes the ground that service was had yesterday and if Sipp and his son do not appear at Police Headquarters on Friday, it is probable that an application will be made to the Supreme Court for an order directing that they appear. Disobedience of such an order may bring prospective witnesses into contempt.

But the belief is that if an indictment is returned against Fox to-day, it will put an end to his trial before District Commissioner Walsh for the time being.

The District Attorney has heard that the affidavits and testimony on which Sipp was arrested in Atlantic City were obtained without the knowledge of Commissioner Walsh or of others at Headquarters. The orders to get the affidavits are alleged to have come from another official of the department without official sanction. The Commissioner, who is friendly to Sipp, has said there was no intention to use the affidavits against Sipp, but that the charges were to be held over his head in case he carried his story about certain police officials to the Grand Jury.

It is said that Inspector Schmittberger heard of the affidavits and told the Commissioner. Whereupon various detectives were ordered to Headquarters with their affidavits. As a result the matter was placed before Chief Magistrate McAdoo and a warrant was issued for Sipp. It is reported that those who caused the affidavits to be obtained did not know of the new turn in affairs until Sipp was arrested. The Grand Jury has taken up these rumors to learn whether or not the detective work preceding the charges on which Sipp was arrested was ordered by the heads of the department or not.

Sipp has said that he got $700 the other day and that his understanding was that he should keep the money and stay away from the State. He added that he understood $1,000 had been paid to a man for this purpose and that the latter had retained $300. Both Edward J. Newell, counsel for Sipp, and Jacob Rouns, counsel for Fox, said last night that the story was ridiculous.

After considering the Sipp testimony for a few minutes this afternoon the jury will be engaged with other matters until next Monday. At that time the witnesses named by Sipp will be called.

Louis J. Grant and Jacob Rouns, Fox's counsel, said that he has told them the charges against him were false and that there was no possibility that he would turn State's evidence.

CZARINA EXPECTING STORK. Birth of Sixth Child Will Come in Spring, It Is Said.

Special Cable Despatch to The Sun. PARIS, Jan. 14.—The Temps correspondent at St. Petersburg says the Czarina is expecting a visit of the stork in the spring.

She is the mother of four girls and the Czarovitch, who has been ill for some time. He is the youngest of her family and was born in 1904. The eldest girl is 18 years of age.

ALL PARTIES HONOR UNCLE JOE.

Monster Farewell Dinner Arranged for Former Speaker.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Uncle Joe Cannon, former Speaker of the House, will be the guest of honor at a monster dinner to be given in February by Republicans and Democratic members. A committee of twenty, composed of Democrats and ten Republicans, was named today to make the arrangements.

Representative Republicans of Massachusetts, a Democrat, was named chairman. Representative Moore of Pennsylvania, a Republican vice-chairman, Representative Copley of Illinois, Republican, secretary, and Representative Kinkaid of New Jersey, Democrat, treasurer. Mr. Copley is the only insurgent whose name appears on the list.

Uncle Joe has given his consent to the plan to honor him by a big dinner attended by members of all parties. Indications are the affair will be held about February 15. Senator John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, a Democrat, probably will be toastmaster.

LOST MASTERPIECE OF RAPHAEL FOUND

Smuggled Out of Italy and Hidden in London Hotel.

Is Report.

Special Cable Despatch to The Sun. LONDON, Jan. 15.—The Standard makes a big display of the story of the arrival in London of Raphael's masterpiece, "La Madonna Della Gioveva," which is declared after a century of disappearance was discovered in the chapel of an Italian nobleman and after having been smuggled out of Italy was brought here by strategy.

According to the Standard's story a covered wagon arrived at the Hotel Cecil early Monday morning. Two police detectives watched half a dozen men carefully remove from the wagon a huge packing case under the adroit superintendence of a foreign gentleman and carry it into the hotel. This contained the picture, which had been insured the previous day for a huge sum.

A well known artist presently arrived on the scene to direct the unpacking and the masterpiece is now hanging in a specially reserved room at the Cecil. It is guarded by detectives night and day while awaiting removal to a suitable place for exhibition.

Several prominent connoisseurs have inspected the picture and according to the Standard documentary evidence as to its authenticity will be published in London shortly. It has been supposed for a century that the picture has been in the Prado Museum at Madrid, but on painting in the Spanish Museum is a copy. It is clever, but lacks Raphael's supreme touches. The Standard promises to print a story of the smuggling of the picture shortly.

DINE OVER CELLAR AFIRE.

Restaurant Patrons Unaware of Blaze Beneath Them.

Patrons in Colazzi's restaurant at 27 West Twenty-fourth street last night were unaware that there was a fire in the cellar beneath them and they ate until the arrival of the Fire Department, which reached the restaurant after the blaze had been extinguished.

In some way a barrel of bread situated too near the furnace caught fire and when discovered by some of the employees was blazing briskly. Word was sent to the proprietor, who ordered the orchestra to play louder and the singers to put more heart into their singing. In the meantime employees of the restaurant were busily dousing the fire with buckets of water.

Some one turned in a fire alarm and when the men from the department entered the restaurant they were met by Signor Colazzi, who smiled and bowed and said that there had been a fire but it was all out now.

EXPLOSION SHATTERS VILLAGE.

Two Killed as Four Powder Mills Blown Up at Hazardville.

EXPLOSION, Conn., Jan. 14.—By the worst case of disaster of its kind since the explosion of the mill of the du Pont Powder Company, at Hazardville, this afternoon two employees were blown to atoms. Four big powder mills were destroyed and a racing fire started, which quickly spread to the adjoining woods and then to Hazardville. The village was partially wiped out. Windows were broken in Hartford, twenty miles distant.

The explosion occurred in a section where more than 100 small mills are located. Many people were injured and thousands of dollars of damage done. The dead men are Charles Blunden and Jacob Stocker.

There were four distinct explosions. When the first mill blew up windows in houses half a mile away were shattered and buildings rocked on their foundations. The fire spread from one to another and in quick succession and the other three explosions followed.

Practically every building in the village suffered. All the large windows in the churches crashed with the first explosion.

The buildings blown to pieces were a press mill and three wheel mills. The most seriously injured were Eble and Joseph Trudeau, brothers.

ASK UNCLE SAM TO FORK OVER. Thrifty New Englanders Demand Per Capita From Reserve Fund.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—A New England newspaper, which published an item on Sunday that the sum of $34,720 is now tucked away in the Treasury Department vaults for each man, woman and child, the per capita division of the reserve sum now held here, was responsible for a deluge of 500 letters received to-day by Director of the Mint Roberts.

The writers asked that Roberts send them their $34,720 forthwith. One man even specified that his amount should be sent in one dollar bills and pennies.

ROCKEFELLER IS ILL, SAYS PUJO DOCTOR

Oral Report of Examination Shows Financier Unfit for Ordeal.

SUBPENAS FOR WOMEN

Committee Wants to Hear From Secretary of the Late H. H. Rogers.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The indications now are that William Rockefeller will not appear in Washington as a witness before the Pujos committee, and it is altogether likely that he will not be asked to make a deposition to a subcommittee. Dr. Charles W. Richardson, who examined Mr. Rockefeller in Florida a day or two ago as the representative of the committee, has made a verbal report. It is understood that Mr. Rockefeller is physically unable to comply with the wishes of the committee.

The written report of Dr. Richardson will be in the hands of the committee to-morrow. Formal notice doubtless will be given then that as medical evidence tends to support representations made in behalf of Mr. Rockefeller that he is unable to testify no further action will be taken in the case.

Officials here say the committee believes it would really get more light on the copper deal if it had an opportunity to interrogate Miss Harrison and Miss Watson under oath. Subpenas have been issued for Catherine Harrison, who occupied a confidential position in the office of the late H. H. Rogers, and Anne Watson, who was employed by William Rockefeller, but both are in Europe, it is believed. However, Samuel Untermyer has employed detectives to ascertain positively.

The work of the House deputies in the search for Mr. Rockefeller in New York was attended by so much publicity that it was deemed advisable to employ private detectives to find out about Miss Harrison and Miss Watson. The subpoena for Miss Harrison was issued last June, when the Rockefeller summons was authorized. The officials are inclined to the belief that the two women intend to keep out of the country until the money trust committee has passed out of existence.

Miss Harrison and Miss Watson, according to members of the committee, are familiar with the terms of the big copper deal in which Messrs. Rogers and Rockefeller are supposed to have made millions. It was this particular transaction that the committee wanted Mr. Rockefeller to discuss.

House officers have raised a question as to the authority of any one connected with the money trust committee to serve subpoenas except through the office of the sergeant at arms. There is no record in the office of the sergeant at arms that subpoenas have been issued for the Messrs. Harrison and Watson. House officers pointed out to-day that under the rules subpoenas must be served by the sergeant at arms or some one acting by his authority.

The Rockefeller case will come up for discussion before the Pujos committee to-morrow. Dr. Richardson will be placed on the stand and questioned publicly relative to Mr. Rockefeller's state of health.

The Pujos committee will resume taking testimony to-morrow. Henry P. Davison and Thos. W. Lamont of J. P. Morgan & Co. probably will be the witnesses.

ROCKEFELLER AT PALM BEACH

Will Remain There Several Days Before Coming North.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 14.—William Rockefeller, accompanied by his wife and son, William G. Rockefeller, is stopping at Palm Beach, having arrived last night from Miami. None of the party is expected to leave.

Mr. and Mrs. Rockefeller were up early this morning and spent the day chair riding and resting. Mr. Rockefeller says he expects to remain here several days before going north. He refuses to discuss the Pujos committee.

BILL TO ADD TO HIGHEST COURT.

Almost Certain Result Would Be to Make It Democratic.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Two additional Justices of the United States Supreme Court are authorized in a bill offered in the Senate to-day by Senator Gore of Oklahoma.

This would raise the membership of the court to eleven. The Democrats now have three members, the Chief Justice and Associate Justices Lurton and Lamar.

Senator Gore was at Trenton recently to see the President-elect. He is one of the Wilson leaders in the Senate. One very probable result of the passage of Senator Gore's bill would be to make the Supreme Court, which is now Republican 6 to 2, a Democratic body, for it is almost certain that at least one vacancy will occur in the next administration. Justice Holmes is now eligible to retire and others will be eligible, including McKenna and Day, before another four years.

VACATION FOR EVERY HORSE.

Philadelphia Plans to Give City Nags Two Weeks Rest.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 14.—Every horse in the employ of the city is to have a two weeks vacation this summer at the expense of the board of managers of the Rivers Infirmity for Dumb Animals. It will cost $1,500 to give the 800 police and fire horses this rest. The board has appropriated the money and appointed a committee to take the details of working out of a system whereby the horses can be spared from their work.

The society has figured that the horses are entitled to a vacation just as much as the policemen and firemen.

ROOT BEGINS CANAL TOLL FIGHT.

Introduces Repealer of Provision Exempting American Shipping.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Senator Root of New York today introduced an amendment repealing the tolls provision in the Panama Canal act. Senator Root's amendment is expected to reopen the entire question of the Panama tolls now in controversy with Great Britain. Senator Root from the beginning has opposed the exemption of American shipping from tolls. Mr. Root gave notice that he will oppose in favor of his amendment on January 21.

Many members of the Senate have said recently that they would vote for a repeal of the free tolls provision rather than submit the controversy to arbitration.

ROMANCE ENDS IN BANKRUPTCY.

Man Who Gave Up Grand Duces for Actress Is Without Funds.

Special Cable Despatch to The Sun. LONDON, Jan. 14.—A novel marriage romance is being prosecuted in the Bankruptcy Court to-day against Count Herman Ostheim.

This obscure title covers the identity of the former heir to the grand duchy of Saxe-Weimar, who in 1909 renounced his rights to the revenues and estates thereof in order to marry Wanda Leventov, one of the Marx girls in "The Merry Widow" production in Italy in London.

He got an allowance of $100,000 from his royal friends and managed to get along. His wife sued him for divorce in France in 1911 and got a dissolution decree. Other lawsuits in England and Germany drove him to the wall. In the hands of a London lawyer who today filed a petition against him.

MRS. BELMONT PAYS GROCER.

Finding of Order Vouchers Results in Settlement of His Suit.

NEW YORK, R. I., Jan. 14.—Suits brought against Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont by F. P. Garrettson, a Newport grocer, involving a bill of goods alleged by the plaintiff to have been purchased by Mrs. Belmont last summer, was announced as settled when the case was called for trial in the district court here to-day. The reason was the finding of order vouchers, the absence of which had caused her to dispute the charge. The case was settled for $433.

TO REORGANIZE ARMY AT ONCE.

Conference at War Department Decide Upon Immediate Action.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The conference which have been held at the War Department by Secretary Stimson and the general officers of the army ended this afternoon. The generals will return to their commands.

Secretary Stimson said to-night that the meetings were the first in which officers not stationed at the War Department have been consulted about proposed changes in army organization and administration.

The decision of the officers was practically unanimous that there should be a reorganization on a tactical basis as soon as possible.

Secretary Stimson said he would proceed with the reorganization, though he has not yet decided to what extent it will be carried.

AVIATOR TRIES TO CROSS ALPS.

Pernian Comes Down in Hurry, but Is Uninjured.

Special Cable Despatch to The Sun. BERNE, Jan. 14.—Mileovitch, the Persian aviator, started from Brian today in his attempt to cross the Alps in imitation of Chaves's feat from Domodossola to Brigue.

He ascended 6,000 feet, but was compelled to come down in a hurry. The aviator was uninjured, but the repairs to the machine will require several days.

HOUSE UPHOLDS TAFT'S ORDER.

35,000 Postmasters Go on Classified List With Democratic Vote.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—By a vote of 146 to 101 the House to-day endorsed the executive order issued by President Taft on October 15, 1912, putting into the classified service 35,000 fourth class postmasters.

To-day's action reversed the vote of yesterday when the House adopted an amendment annulling and setting aside that order of 1912 as well as one issued September 29, 1910, classifying assistant postmasters in first and second class post offices.

Democratic leaders say that the vote to-day precludes further effort to annul the executive orders classifying postmasters and their assistants.

The nine Democrats voted to sustain the President's order.

ILL FATED SHIP NEAR ROCKS.

The Snowden Range Almost Two Months Crossing Atlantic.

Special Cable Despatch to The Sun. QUEENSTOWN, Jan. 14.—The troubles of the unfortunate British steamship Snowden Range, which left Philadelphia on November 22 for Leith and has been battered about ever since, are not yet over. She was in tow of two tugs and escorted by the steamship Welshman off Daunt's Rock this afternoon. The progress of the fleet was slow owing to the prevalence of a fierce gale.

Late this evening the Snowden Range, when two miles from the northeast of Daunt's Rock, put off her anchors in eighteen fathoms of water and the other vessels came on and entered the harbor here.

Shortly after the tugs and the escort left her the Snowden Range parted her cables, but did not go ashore.

She managed to work her way out of the bay unaided and slowly made her way into the harbor here at midnight. A shift of the wind helped her considerably, but there was also some smart seamanship.

SULZER DEFIES MURPHY TO FIGHT

Governor Tells Senator Murtaugh the Test May As Well Come Now.

ROW OVER RATTIGAN

Tammany Leader Wishes Col. Scott Retained as Prison Head.

T. M. OSBORNE WANTS JOB

Murphy in Albany Refuses to Comment on Sulzer's Ultimatum.

There were no visitors last night of a severe strain in the relations between Gov. Sulzer and Charles F. Murphy. The fact was noted by Tammany men and others who had been present in Albany for the last two days for the purpose of participating in the ceremonies attendant on the casting of the electoral vote of the State for Wilson and Marshall were that yesterday Senator John F. Murtaugh of Chemung county, Mr. Murphy's closest friend, discussed with Gov. Sulzer the retention of Col. John F. Scott of Elmira as Superintendent of State Prisons.

It turned out that Senator Murtaugh conveyed the wishes of Mr. Murphy to Gov. Sulzer that Col. Scott be retained and that the appointment of Charles F. Rattigan of Auburn, Thomas Mott Osborne's chief lieutenant, to be warden of Auburn Prison, to succeed George K. Benjamin, was contrary to Mr. Murphy's wishes and should not be entertained by the Governor.

"Very well," Gov. Sulzer was reported to have replied to Senator Murtaugh, "the test between Mr. Murphy and myself as State leader may just as well come now on this appointment as at any future time."

Gov. Sulzer's remark was reported by Mr. Murphy at the Hotel Ten Eyck in Albany, but Mr. Murphy would not say anything for publication in reply. There were Tammany men in town
